

softwareinmotion gmbh

Our core business is the development of software for embedded systems, safety-critical systems, and information systems. We also offer consulting services in the areas of IT, functional security, and process and quality management. At softwareinmotion, we have our focus on everything that is in motion – whether physical, process-related, or virtual. We even carry motion in our name: software- inmotion.

For our customers, we are a strategic partner, pragmatic problem solver or both, depending on the project. We assume responsibility and guarantee thorough development work and consulting services, down to the very core. We always work towards finding the best solutions, we do not believe in compromises, but in good and intensive communication. We are precise, punctual, and uncompromising when it comes to compliance with the rules, and we are communicative, progressive, innovative, visionary, honest, and loyal. Only the best teams can create outstanding products.
